What happens if you connect 100 teachers with 100 people from business, government, and/or community agencies?

You can make connections!

At this event, teachers will learn about real projects and problems from businesses and community agencies. Businesses and community agencies will be able to provide guidance to teachers and their project based learning. The result is learning that is more authentic, relevant, and engaging for our students in Central New York.

We need you as a resource to bring the "real world" into our schools and classrooms.

Limit of 100 business participants, please register early.
